"What's wrong, Everett? You look puzzled. You shouldn't look puzzled on your birthday," said JJ.
"I am puzzled," said Everett. "My mother gave me this birthday card, and I can't figure it out."
"Let me see." JJ looked at the card. "Can't you read the code?"
"Oh, that part is easy," said Everett. "I don't understand the numbers."

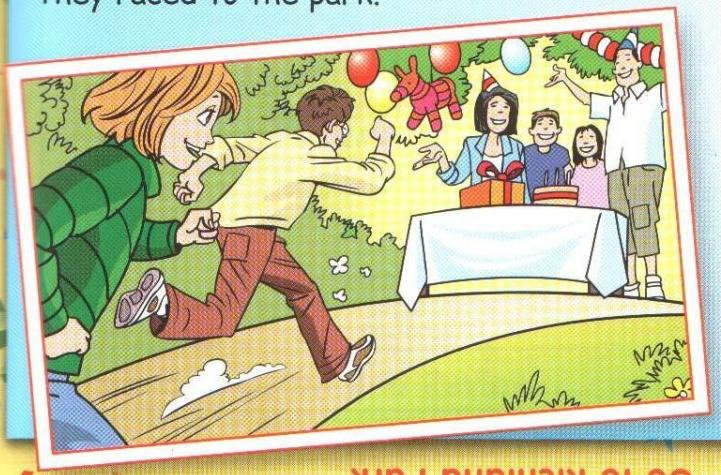

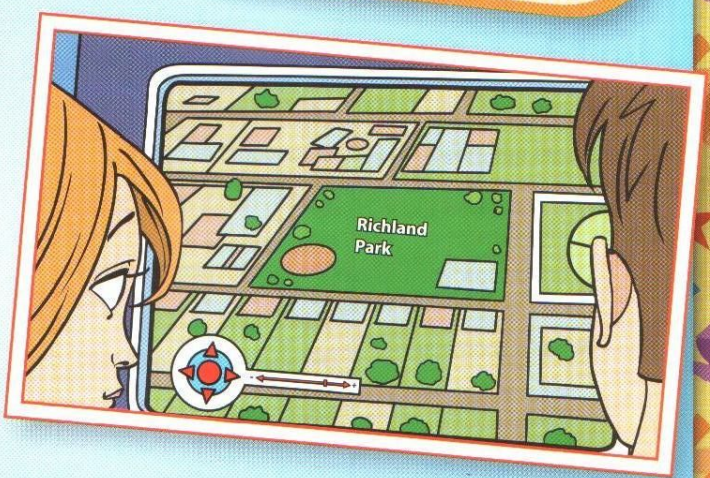

"Hmmm," said JJ. "N could be North, and W could be West."
"So?"
"I think these show latitude and longitude."
"How do they help me find the place?" asked Everett.
"It's simple." JJ opened a website on her computer. "We type in the numbers and press the button."

"Look at the map!" said Everett.
"That's our city."
"Now we zoom in," said JJ.
"That's our neighborhood," said Everett.
"And we zoom in some more," said JJ.
"That's the park," said Everett. "Why does it show our park?"
"Come on," said JJ. "Let's go and see!"
They raced to the park.

"Surprise!"
"Happy Birthday, Everett," said JJ.
"Wow!" said Everett. "This is great! Thanks."

Happy Birthday!
